Bob Marley in Beijing

Nordic Black Theatre Tour 2005

written and directed by Cliff A. Moustache

A music theatre performance that has been specially written for the first ever visit of the legendary poet, musician and 'Tuff Gong' to China.

This is an art and culture exchange between global artists and the people of China. The rasta lion meets and greets the chinese dragon with one love, music and theatre.

Bob Marley was born at the end of the second world war, the son of a British army captain who he met only once and a Jamaican mother, who he grew up with in the country village of Nine Miles.

Inspired by the 225th descendant of King David, Haile Selassie I of Ethiopia he took reggae music and the messages of rastafari to every corner of the planet. He remains a champion of the poor in every continent, providing inspiration, motivation, spirituality and confidence for countless souls across old and young generations. After 24 years rest, Bob and his band the Wailers are ready to take rasta love and livity to China.

This theatrical concert draws us into Bob's journey and universe, with the band members, Bob's wife - Rita Marley, and FM 51.1 RADIO DREAD with DJ Ras Binghy as our guides.

RADIO DREAD is together with the band on tour in China, following what happens both on and off stage and broadcasting live interviews, songs and rasta vibes live and direct to Jamaica and beyond.

So tune in to your number one station, from nation to nation with words, sounds and versions, this is Bob Marley and the Wailers with rastaman vibrations from creation! JAH LIVES!
